

The exports occupy different positions in each source image

Rectangles show measurement extents, not tissue-outline polygons. Each panel keeps its own source coordinates. Similar slide layout does not establish corresponding anatomy; no translation, rotation, scaling or deformation has been applied.