

PLA-type contrasts within the same literal label

Lines connect labels across separate exports. They do not establish the same tissue section, cell, or independent animal. Different antibody pairs and section coverage can affect counts and overlap; no significance tests are shown.